

News and Updates

A quick newsletter to keep you up-to-date with the Music Club.

We are continuing to be in recess until such time as we can safely gather again. In the meantime, we have had a meeting (on Zoom - sigh) and talked more about the future and how we can meet safely. As the numbers improve, we hope that can be sooner rather than later.

Ukulele News

We are sad to say farewell to Julie Bradley who will not be returning as a Ukulele tutor for 2021. Julie has been a dynamic member of the Club across the whole Ukulele program (lessons, Ukelicious, Ukulele Wingding) and she will be sorely missed. Her energetic and positive effort has seen the growth of the Uke program in the last few years. We wish her well for her future endeavours.

Lessons are currently being planned for 2021. However, with the current restrictions and uncertainty to the future, we are still working on what this may look like. Di will be sending out further information as the situation solidifies and we have a clearer picture of the program. Both Beginners and Intermediate classes will be on offer.

Vale Trevor Robinson

We report with sadness the death of Trevor Robinson. Trevor was an active and enthusiastic member of the club. His participation at camps and in several music groups was enjoyed by many. He was always willing to share and we will miss his lovely voice. We send our sympathies to his family. .
